The minimum value available upon full surrender, death or annuitization of the contract is equal to 100% of the aggregate deposits less aggregate gross withdrawals, all accumulated at an annual effective interest rate of 1%, reduced by any applicable withdrawal charge.

¹ Contracts including the Return of Purchase Payment (ROP) feature may earn a lower interest rate than those without it.

² Amounts allocated to this strategy earn interest in arrears based, in part, on the performance of the S&P 500[®] Index. The interest credited is equal to the percentage change of the index up to the interest rate cap, but not less than 0%. The interest rate cap is first set when the contract is purchased and thereafter, annually at the beginning of each contract year.

³ Amounts allocated to this strategy earn interest in arrears based, in part, on the performance of the S&P 500[®] Index. The performance tier and performance interest rate enhancement are set when the contract is purchased and will not change. The interest rate cap is first set when the contract is purchased and thereafter, annually at the beginning of each contract year.

- If the index performance is not negative, but less than the performance tier, the interest rate for the contract year will be the base interest rate.

- If the index performance reaches or exceeds the performance tier, the interest rate will be the base interest rate plus the performance interest rate enhancement.

Effective 9/16/2014, the S&P 500[®] Index must have an annual return of 15.00% for the performance interest rate enhancement to be applied.

The S&P 500[®] Index is one of the most commonly used benchmarks for the U.S. equity market. It is a market capitalization weighted index of 500 of the largest U.S. companies and includes a representative sample of leading companies in leading industries of the U.S. economy. This index is based on the stock prices of these companies and does not include dividends. You cannot invest directly in the Index. Payments allocated to the fixed account do not involve the S&P 500 Index. Payments allocated to the fixed account do not involve the S&P 500 Index.
